

About the authors

---

Vanessa Erogbogbo is an independent consultant with over 12 years' experience in development finance. She specialises in access to finance and enterprise development for small and medium enterprises, with a focus on women-owned businesses. Ms Erogbogbo has an MBA from the London Business School.

Esther Eghobamien is the Interim Director, Social Transformation Programmes Division (STPD) and Head of Gender at the Commonwealth Secretariat. She was previously Country Gender Advisor at the Canadian International Development Agency (CIDA) – Nigeria Programme and worked on governance, public finance management and country growth assessment as well as mainstreaming gender in country assistance programmes through whole-of-government approach. Ms Eghobamien led the establishment of the first dedicated Donor Gender Fund and a Gender Umbrella project for CIDA Nigeria. She is a graduate of the University of Ibadan and University of Washington Graduate School of Public Policy and holds both the Hubert Humphrey and Eisenhower Fellowships.

Elizabeth Pimentel is an independent consultant working in the policy and practice areas related to issues of gender and gender equality. She holds degrees in Economics and Latin American Studies (BA, Macalester College, St Paul, Minnesota), Public Policy (MPA, School of International and Public Affairs, Columbia University, New York) and Development Studies (MSc, School of Oriental and African Studies, University of London) and is currently undertaking doctoral research in the area of feminist studies.